

paddling is only half the fun on our world-class rivers.

Exploring the river valleys, gorges and lowlands is also a big part of the adventure.

The Keele River offers excellent fly fishing and the Mountain River winds past unusual tufa rock formations. In the Nahanni pause for a mud spa treatment in one of the hot springs. Spend a day or an evening hiking near the paddling river of your choice and photograph the animals that roam the Northwest Territories – one of the largest wilderness areas in the world. Depending on the river location, you can see caribou, moose, Dall's sheep, grizzlies, wolves, muskox and many sturdy bird species that return to the NWT each summer.
