UNPLUG FROM THE COMMONPLACE. DISCOVER A DEEPER CONNECTION.

In the Northwest Territories, nature runs wild. We're a polar Serengeti, where whales cavort, muskoxen wander, polar bears roam, and Canada's only reindeer herd brings traffic to a halt. If your life is too tame, get up here – and go wild.

Fly-in Base Camps: Connect with Inuvialuit Culture

Climb aboard a bush plane for your multi-day Arctic adventure of a lifetime and land at a remote base camp. Hear the stories and experience the culture of your Inuvialuit hosts. Hike in a land where the summer sun never sets. Parks Canada guided base camp trips to Ivvavik National Park and Tukturnogait National Park make these bucket list places easier to get to.

Hang out with the herd north of Inuvik, then join the fun at the Muskrat Jamboree

After the long winter, the sun returns to the Western Arctic, the reindeer head to their calving grounds and the people of the Mackenzie River Delta come out to play, dance and celebrate at the annual Muskrat Jamboree.

Getaway packages include:

- Return airfare from Edmonton to Inuvik
- Airport transfers
- Three nights hotel accommodations
- Reindeer roundup tour
- Muskrat Jamboree activities, including the Inuvialuit Drum Dancers
- Your choice of a winter adventure: Dogsledding, Snowmobiling or Snowshoeing

TRIPS STARTING AT
$2,199 PER PERSON
(including tax and surcharges, based on double occupancy)
