

BIG WATERFALLS, BIG PARKS, BIG BISON - YOU'RE IN THE LAND OF BIG ADVENTURE WHEN YOU DRIVE AROUND THE SOUTH SLAVE REGION OF THE NWT.

If your ideal Northern road trip includes chasing colossal waterfalls, immersing yourself in the culture of traditional communities, and spotting more wildlife than you can count, the Wood Buffalo Waterfall Route is for you.

Cross the 60th parallel on the Alberta/NWT border, and set off on your journey down the highways of the South Slave Region. This route features numerous waterfalls, and countless opportunities to enjoy art galleries and local attractions in several communities, leading to Canada's largest National Park - Wood Buffalo. You've arrived, but the adventure is far from over as hiking possibilities, beautiful campgrounds, and opportunities to spot wildlife abound. It's a perfect example of what makes the NWT so alluring to road travellers.
